MONDAY, MAY 16.

Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll's eldest daughter is said to have the finest and best soprano voice in New York. She is also very beautiful.

Mrs. Grant has received another check for $39,384 53 from the publishers of "General Grant's Memoirs", making $394,459.53 so far received by her. There is already more profit in General Grant's Memoirs, than in any book ever before published in this country.

The New York Tribune says as "they are talking of starting a 'wet' campaign in Atlanta, Ga., they couldn't do better than to secure the services of Colonel Ramwater, of St. Louis; Major Drinkwater, of Denver; General Rosewater, of Omaha and Captain Broadwater, of Minnesota."

The Minnesota high license law fixes the fee of all liquor stores in St. Paul and Minneapolis at $1 000, and in other parts of the state at $500. It goes into effect July 1. The Pennsylvania high license bill has been signed by Governor Beaver, and the schedule is a $500 license for cities of 30,000 population or over, $400 for smaller cities, $200 for boroughs and $100 for township hotels.

Will the democratic party in 1888 have the courage of its convictions and fight the presidential campaign on the tariff issue? Or will it sneak, as usual?—Chicago Journal.

Sneak, of course. Did the Journal ever know of the democratic party having the courage of its convictions on any national question of vital importance, which demanded frankness, intelligence and boldness in its discussion? Not much.

Captain F. M. Putney, of Waukesha, died on Saturday night of paralysis. He was one of the oldest settlers of Waukesha county, having made his home in that county as early as 1845. For many years he was the owner of the American house in Waukesha, and being successful in business did much to improve the village. He had only one child, Colonel Frank H. Putney, who was Governor Ludington's private secretary, and during the administration of Governor Smith was assistant secretary of state.

A private conference of leading Chicago democrats was held at the Iroquoi club rooms last week with the object of harmonizing factional feeling. The effort was considered successful enough to justify the calling of another meeting next week. There are two democratic factions in Chicago. One thinks Cleveland's is a mugwump administration, and wants a little of the old Jackson in it, while the other is willing to swallow anything the administration does just to make the republicans believe that they like the dose.

A few days ago the Gazette printed an editorial note regarding the marvelous progress of Birmingham, Alabama. To further show how things are booming in that city it is said that a young lady clerk in one of the departments at Washington has just sold a farm near Birmingham for $100,000, which her mother a few years ago tried hard to sell for a few hundred dollars. The advent of manufactories and the discovery of coal on the lands has given the young lady a fortune. Nine years ago all the land on which Birmingham stands was not worth $2,000. It is now worth more than ten millions.

Senator Voorhees has touched the mugwump heart very cruelly by some pretty plain talk. He says he takes no stock in mugwumpery, and he remarks further: "I don't think that the democrats will be at all sorry to part with the sentimentalists who joined issue with them against Blaine in 1884. I think that the few blunders that President Cleveland has made can be traced to the mugwump influences. It is stated that some of them are finding fault with him and threaten to withdraw their support from him in the next campaign. Well, let them go. It will add to the president's strength." This is a tribute to the mugwump strength that will smart all over.

As an illustration of the elasticity of a mugwump paper, or in other words, to show how an independent paper can stretch its conscience, the following examples are gleaned from the New York Post. On the 9th of May it editorially said, speaking of the Vedder bill:

The local option provision was never in the bill, the excuse for not putting it in being "inexpediency," but the real excuse was that it might strengthen the bill and lead to its becoming a law—a consummation which the republican managers are resolved not to permit.

That is the first "calm" judicial opinion of the republicans and the Vedder liquor tax bill. Two days after the Post published a second "calm" judicial opinion of the republicans and the Vedder tax bill:

They are bending all energies to pass the Vedder liquor tax bill, having got it through one house, and hoping to get it through the other by what their organ calls "pushing it in every way—ordinary and extraordinary, too, for that matter."

So, according to this mugwump journal, the republicans are working tooth and nail to kill the liquor tax bill and are straining every nerve to pass it. One of the most beautiful traits in the character of an eastern mugwump paper is its consistency.

OUT TO STAY.

In these columns last week an opinion coming from the independents was published that under no circumstances would the mugwumps oppose Mr. Cleveland were he renominated. Several of the mugwump papers in the east have recently printed editorial views on this question, from which it is distinctly understood that they will support no republican who can be named for the presidency if Mr. Cleveland is the democratic nominee. An explanation of this will probably be found in the following from the Nashville American, democratic:

Those who went out of the republican party when Mr. Blaine was nominated, went never to return. They really had no business in the republican party when they left it, no matter who might be its nominee. Though the personal character of Mr. Blaine was made the excuse, it is a significant fact that all these are in accord with the democratic party upon nearly all important questions, and that the bonds which bound them to the republican party were very loose indeed. They clung to it through habit, and because of its traditional prejudice against the democratic party. But now that they have broken these bonds it is not likely that they will ever go back to a party with which they have nothing whatever in common. The revolt against Blaine was really a revolt against the republican party.

This is probably striking the nail squarely on the head. It neither Sherman, nor Hawley, nor Gresham will command the mugwump support in 1888, then it may as well be put down in the books that the mugwumps have gone over to the democratic party to stay. As a rule, it will be observed, the independents are free traders. They are in full sympathy with the democratic party on most of the questions of public concern, and therefore have nothing in common with the republican party.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PARTIES.

The other day that young reformer and promising statesman, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, made a speech before the Federal club of that city, which, in many respects, would have done great honor to any of our much older and more prominent statesmen. One paragraph in the speech reads as follows:

All parties are composed of more than the men that are in them. They are composed of more even than the principles for which they at one time stand. A party is a bundle of traditions, a bundle of tendencies. There are certain questions on which the parties frequently do not commit themselves in their platforms, and on any one of these questions, when it comes up in a legislative body, you will invariably find that the great bulk of the men who vote for the cause of interest are republicans; that the great bulk of those who are traitors to their trust are democrats.

We are told by some of the independent papers of the mugwump kind, that there is not much difference between the parties—that neither one of them is too good, that both of them are not what they should be, and that Cleveland is much better than his party, and that Blaine is below the average standard of his party. This will do for mugwumps to say, but the close student of political history will disagree with such statements. The best answer to all this is the history of the parties. There is something more than men in them—something more than platform resolutions which are frequently made for a temporary expedient for catching votes.

Democratic students of history will say that there has been no other political organization in this or any other country that has had so brilliant career as the republican party. Its achievements and progress have been marvelous. It has not been quite three years since George William Curtis, now a Cleveland democrat, while standing in the presence of twelve thousand of his countrymen in the republican national convention, said the splendid story of the republican party was one which the people would never tire of telling—a story which is written upon the hearts of all Americans because it recounts greater services for liberty, for the country, for mankind than those of any party in any other nation. Then Mr. Curtis asked what was the secret of this unparalleled history, and he gave the answer which every young man should soberly ponder—"because the republican party has always been the party of the best instincts, of the highest desires of the American people." These are the words of George William Curtis less than three years ago. Here is another statement which challenges the attention of thinking men, especially of young men who have become voters since the first gun at Sumter was fired. The census table of the United States will show you that in the last twenty-four years of the history of this country, we have had more wealth, double over, more progress in all things commendable, than we had acquired from the discovery of the continent of Columbus down to the election of Abraham Lincoln. That remarkable history was made by the republican party.

Now there is another point which young voters should understand, for it shows the difference in the tendencies of the two parties. The democratic, during the twenty-four years named, was never right about anything except at the wrong time when it was too late for its influence to do any good, and Mr. Curtis, now a defender of Cleveland and Cleveland a democrat, has said that there is no democrat living who can point to one single thing within a quarter of a century that his party has ever done or even attempted to do, from which any citizen can draw any pride, or from the doing of which the country would have drawn any honor.

But leaving the parties as national parties, notice the difference in large cities between democratic and republican rule. "In states and cities where the population is prosperous and industrious, where proletariat and millionaire are words of little import, there republicanism is always in the majority. Kansas, Nebraska, rural New York, rural Illinois, Vermont, and in fact all the regions in which moderate wealth is common, are reliably republican. It is to the southern states, to the palaces and dives of New York that democracy goes for its majorities."

These are some facts regarding the difference between the parties that naturally furnish much food for reflection to those of a thoughtful turn of mind.

WON WITH A RUSH.

GREAT FEAT OF HORSEFLESH ON THE BROOKLYN TRACK.

Dry Monopole Beats the Record for Ten Furlongs in a Race That Was for Blood from the Start to the Finish—How the Leaders Came Under the String—Base Ball Records—Notes.

NEW YORK, May 15.—An immense attendance, a fine day and a fast track were the features of the opening day of the May meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey club, and the event of the day was the lowering of the 7/8 miles record by Dry Monopole. No betting was allowed, and the bookmakers stood around with their hands in their pockets and watched for points for the future.

The great race was not run until 6 p. m., and when the flag dropped seventeen horses started in the struggle for blood and money. Exile, Dry Monopole, Boaz, Richmond, and Fenelon were first in the swirl around the turn for the start in the opening quarter of a mile. Fenelon headed Exile in the opening furlong, Dry Monopole running into second place and Himalaya crowding alongside of Exile in the hottest equine fight yet seen near the sea. Passing the start on entering the even mile Fenelon had his heels just clear of the rush of thundering hoofs behind him. Exile was then running second, Dry Monopole at his neck, and Garrison fighting for the front on Blue Wing. Fenelon headed the swirl around the club-house turn, but before reaching the quarter-pole on the back stretch he was drawn back into the bunch that came plunging behind him, Exile lapping him by half a length, Dry Monopole, Himalaya, and half a dozen others all in the dark cluster.

Fenelon made another spurt before reaching the half mile pole, and again succeeded in getting just clear of the pack. Then the 3-year-old drew back slowly out of the fight, McCarthy moving to the front and taking command on Dry Monopole. Blue Wing collared him on the fair turn and dusky Hamilton passed for the front on the black Californian, Hidalgo, Wickham and Boaz also taking part in the struggle near the front. At a mile from the start Dry Monopole, Blue Wing and Hidalgo led the squad a length apart as named, Boaz half lapping, and the others following in a cloud of dust. The run along the home-stretch drew deafening shouts from the 10,000 spectators, and the finish was most exciting, Dry Monopole winning the race a head in front of Blue Wing, with Hidalgo lapping third. These were alone, Oridamme coming fourth, a dozen lengths behind. The time was 2:07.

The pace was terrific from end to end, two horses, Quito and Free Knight, colliding and going down in the mad whirl round the turn into the homestretch on the start, nearly killing Jockey Caldwell and shaking Bluylock almost out of his boots. The finish between McCarthy on the winner, Garrison on Blue Wing, and Hamilton on Hidalgo, will be often told by all who saw it. Hidalgo was on the inside of the track, Dry Monopole in the middle, and Blue Wing outside. Garrison undoubtedly thought that he had the race won, for he stopped whipping in order to make an Archer finish, while McCarthy kept on punishing, snatching the race by a head in the last bound. The black Californian was only half a length behind. McCarthy was followed from the paddock by a cheering, shouting, wild crowd after winning the race, and Sam Emory, it is said, presented him with $5,000.

The other races were won as follows: Bankrupt, ¾ mile, 1:04: Buckstone, 1 mile, 1:42½; Guarantee, ½ mile, 0:50; Bonnie King, ½ mile, 0:51½.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Saturday's races show the following winners: Santalina, ½ mile, 0:51¼; Florimore, 1¼ miles, 2:40¼; Montana Regent, 1¼ miles, 2:15¾; Fosterad, ½ miles, 1:57½; Fellowbrook, 1 mile, 1:47¾.

The Base Ball Record.

CHICAGO, May 16.—The week ended Saturday leaves Chicago sixth in the league list and Detroit first, the former having won 5 games and lost 7, and the latter won 12 games and lost 2. Saturday's game here was another victory for Detroit, the score being: Chicago 4, Detroit 7. Other league games: At Boston—Boston 10, Washington 2; at Pittsburg—Pittsburg 5, Indianapolis 2; at New York—New York 2, Philadelphia 17.

In the American association the schedule shows that St. Louis is still "playing bull," that club having won sixteen games and lost but 3; Cincinnati is second. Saturday's games were: At St. Louis—St. Louis 8, Baltimore 2; at Cincinnati—Cincinnati 7, Metropolitan 6; at Cleveland—Cleveland 4, Brooklyn 5; at Louisville—Louisville 4, Athletics 5—ten innings. Sunday games: At Louisville—Louisville 7, Baltimore 10; at Cincinnati—Cincinnati 13, Brooklyn 4.

The Northwestern league is giving closer figures between the leading clubs, Des Moines leading with 8 games won and 1 game lost, Oshkosh and Milwaukee have each won 8 games and lost 2 and 3 respectively, while Eau Claire has not won a game. The Saturday record is:

At DesMoines—DesMoines 11, Duluth 4; at LaCrosse—LaCrosse 14, Eau Claire 8; at Milwaukee—Milwaukee 5, Minneapolis 3. Sunday's game: At Milwaukee—Milwaukee 8, Minneapolis 17.

International Bicycle Race.

LONDON, May 16.—The first of a series of five international bicycle races took place Saturday between Howell, of Wolverhampton, and Woodside, of Philadelphia, the distance being twenty miles. Woodside, at the beginning, rushed to the front, and led at the end of the first mile, which was made in 2 minutes and 48 seconds. At the end of the tenth mile Woodside was still in the lead, but toward the close Powell gained and won by 15 yards. Time, 1 hour and 40 seconds.

A Shamrock to Race the Thistle.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Shamrock, a new center-board sloop, has been launched at Brooklyn. J. Rogers Maxwell, is her owner, and he has had her built to beat the Thistle for the America's cup. J. Oliver Iselin has a steel sloop on the stocks for the match, and her name is the Titania. Both these yachts are in the second class, and will be matched in the trial races.

Experts to Shoot Pigeons.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 16.—In reply to the challenge of William Giles Graham, the English champion pigeon shooter, John L. Brewer states that he accepts his offer and will shoot him on any day between the 25th and 29. The conditions are 100 birds, Hurlingham rules, Graham to give Brewer $200 and pay all expenses if Brewer wins.

The Jumping Record Beaten.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—In the spring contests of the Athletic Association of the University of Pennsylvania Saturday W. B. Page beat all previous American records in the running high jump by clearing 6 feet 1 inch, thus eclipsing his performance at Wilmington, Del., a week ago, when he cleared 6 feet 2½ inch.

Woman as a Wallkist.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 16.—The women's six days' walking match at Kernan's Monumental theatre closed at 10:30 Saturday night with the following scores: Livingston, 303 miles; Carroll, 291 miles; Wilson, 277; Wells, 262; Howard, 256 miles; Preston, 249 miles; Stanley, 244 miles; Sutton, 229 miles.

Next Three Years at Pullman.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 16.—President St. John, of the Mississippi Valley Rowing association, states that the association has closed a contract with the Athletic club, of Pullman, Ills., to row all their regattas the next three years at Pullman.

RELIEVED OF HIS SUFFERINGS.

Justice Woods, of the United States Supreme Court, Goes to Eternal Rest.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—Justice William B. Woods, of the supreme court of the United States, who had been ill at his residence in this city for some time, died a few minutes after 12 o'clock Saturday. He was seriously sick while in California a month ago, but improved enough to enable him to come home. After his arrival he continued to grow worse. His disease was dropsy. He suffered intensely Friday night, but in the early morning he apparently became insensible to pain. He was entirely unconscious Saturday morning, and the only evidence of life visible was his slow respiration. He passed away peacefully, without evincing any sign of returning consciousness.

Justice Wood was born in Newark, Ohio, and, after receiving his primary education, was sent to Yale college, where he was graduated in 1845. Subsequently he studied law, and began the practice of his profession in 1847. Entering the political arena as a Democrat he was elected in 1857 to the Ohio legislature and made speaker, and was elected to the same body two years thereafter. After the breaking out of the war in 1861 he went into the military service as lieutenant colonel of the Seventy-sixth Ohio infantry, serving until the war closed, when he was mustered out with the rank of brigadier general and brevet major general. He was mustered out in Alabama, where he remained. Returning to legal duties and political life he was chosen a state chancellor for six years, but after serving in this position for two years was appointed by President Grant circuit judge of the United States for the Fifth district, which office he held while residing in Mobile for a number of years. His promotion to the United supreme court took place in 1880.

MICHIGAN FIRES STILL RAGING.

A Slight Rain Falls to Quench the Flames—Heavy Destruction.

CHEBOYGAN, Mich., May 16.—Fire is raging fiercely in the woods in several parts of this county. Rain fell for a few hours Sunday morning, but not sufficiently to quench the flames. Near Burt lake the situation is critical. The fire is licking up everything in its path. A great deal of standing timber, houses, barns and fences have been destroyed.

Baltimore Brewers' Demands.

BALTIMORE, May 16.—The Brewworkers, Union, of this city, has presented a contract to the brewers for their signature which calls for a reason when a man is discharged, declares that they must not be asked to do work that will injure them physically or mentally; insists that in the dull season men must be changed off so that all will have a show. Other demands are that only in case of necessity shall a man be changed from one branch of work to another, and then he must not work over two hours; but one apprentice to every ten men will be allowed; drivers shall go over their routes but once a day, and two extra trips per week shall call for extra pay; brewers must not employ a man recommended by a saloonkeeper. A meeting of the Brewers' and Malsters' association was held which decided to reject the demands. District Master Workman McCartney, of the Knights of Labor, was present by invitation. He explained that it was not a Knights of Labor strike, and expected the knights to remain at work.

That Was Butterworth's Idea.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 16.—Hon. G. E. Foster, minister of marine and fisheries, was interviewed Saturday regarding reciprocity and commercial union with the United States. He was of the opinion that Butterworth's plan would not do. He said: "It does not seem to me there would be any corresponding gain for the major portion of our natural products, while to throw ourselves into the current of United States trade and shut ourselves out from Great Britain would only tend to our absorption into the American Union."

A Bold Thief Foiled.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 16.—A daring attempt at highway robbery was made at noon Saturday on W. O. McCormick, cashier of the Niagara elevator. McCormick was on his way from the bank with a satchel containing $1,500, when he was assaulted near Chicago and Ohio streets by a stranger, who threw pepper in his eyes and attempted to snatch the satchel from him. McCormick pluckily held on the bag despite the pain he suffered, and several persons coming up then, the thief beat a hasty retreat.

DOLLARS AND SENSE!

Are two very good things to have and those who make good use of the latter generally manage to get their share of the former. The sense of saving the cents is pretty generally understood by all, but where and how to save them may not be quite so well and widely known. The morgue of economy and the graveyard of frugality is found in all those stores who ask a few cents more than we do for the purchases of the day.

A SECRET OF MONEY MAKING.

Lies in the solution of the problem of judicious buying; this is accomplished by securing a reliable article at the very lowest price, but where? There is but one "lowest" and once found you may depend upon it that you are on the broad road to riches. Seek until you find it, and in the search don't forget to look us over, for we are making it a point to save at least one cent for every purchaser, no matter how small or trifling the article may be.

AS YOU BUY SO YOU SAVE,

For the larger the article the wider the gap between our figures and the average prices of the day. Try us and you will find we are something to tie to. Our intention is to serve you with the best at a scale of prices mutually beneficial, and at the end of the year we will prove to have Standard Oil Men Found Guilty of Conspiracy to Down a Competing Firm by Crooked Means—One of the Original Defendants Expresses Himself with Vigor and Bitterness.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 16.—The oil company case was given to the jury Saturday at 5 p. m. The judge in his charge excluded all the references to the Standard Oil company, and said that the question was whether Everest and Miller had entered into an unlawful conspiracy to blow up the works of the Buffalo Lubricating Oil company, and whether an attempt to carry out the agreement had been made.

The jury did not agree upon a verdict until Sunday morning, and when they filed into the court-room a large number of spectators were present. The expectation of almost everybody in town had been that the jury would either acquit or disagree, and, consequently, when the foreman announced, after the usual interrogatories by the court, that a verdict of guilty had been agreed upon there was a murmur of astonishment in the room. A good deal of money had been laid at odds that no verdict of guilty would be reached. Court immediately adjourned, the jury being discharged.

The Everests, defendants, appeared to be very much surprised and dismayed on hearing the verdict, Charles B. Matthews, the complainant, on the contrary, being unable to restrain his delight. He was subsequently interviewed by The Chicago Herald correspondent regarding the case, and said: "I was not at all surprised at the verdict; any jury of honest men would have decided in the same way. This Standard Oil company, which has just received a staggering blow, is one of the finest organizations that ever existed. They may kill, but they can't scare me. Some of their witnesses committed the most barefaced perjury, notably W. E. Colter, of Philadelphia. He swore I said I was trying to force the Standard company to buy me out, even going the length of repeating what he called my exact language. Now, I never saw Colter but once in my life, and then we talked for about five minutes about a patent." Mr. Matthews then declared that Colter had been guilty of some shady practices, which he (Matthews) described, and proceeded: "This trial has cost the people $2,500, but the Standard company has spent not less than $100,000." He also asserted that an attempt had been made to get Miller, the principal witness for the defense, out of the way, and that proof of his statement was now in his possession. Had Capt. Mack, the Standard company's detective, been put on the stand, he said, the whole story would have come out, but the defendants were afraid to call him as a witness.

John D. Archbold, one of the original five defendants, and a member of the Standard Oil company, was subsequently seen by the correspondent, and said: "It must be confessed that we feel very bitterly over this verdict. It was entirely against the evidence and against Judge Haight's charge to the jury. It can not be that in this free country it is a crime to make a success in business. I can assure you that we shall give our attention to this case, and that such a verdict will never be followed by the infliction of sentence, unless the goddess of justice has become entirely blind to a righteous cause. The case brought by this man Matthews was one of simple blackmail. He has become a monomaniac on the subject, and actually believes what he says. He conceived the idea of selling his useless and unneeded plant to us at an exorbitant figure. I am going to New York tonight, but Mr. Bacon will be up from Rochester, and then our attorneys will decide what kind of a motion to make in the court tomorrow. The elder Everest is in feeble health, and to-day he is prostrated. He has lived too long in Rochester to have such a pious hypocrite as this wicked Matthews deceive anybody as to his character."

Influence of a Camera in Politics.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—Senator Kenna, of West Virginia is the youngest senator in the upper house, and uses both the violin and a new influence in his political campaigns. Capt. Burritt is responsible for the story that the senator is a good amateur photographer and always takes his camera along when campaigning. This instrument, the captain says, has proven a wonderfully influential adjunct. Senator Kenna will photograph an entire family of his backwoods constituency in group or detail, and present the surprised and delighted originals with the same, which to them is more novel and acceptable than a whole front row of seats in a circus. It is estimated that Kenna has, during the past three years, photographed two-thirds of the entire population of the rural and mountain district of his state, and has held thousands of discontented voters safe to the party on election day by the influence of his camera.

Will Probably Raise a Row.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 16.—It seems that the coke strike is liable to cause a big ruction in the Knights of Labor organization. The virtual denial of the principles of arbitration by the strikers in refusing to accept the award is stirring up a turmoil below the surface of the organization, and if the strike continues some of the best known Knights of Labor leaders will be engaged in a fight. It is stated that the knights will order the men back to work and then ask for a reopening of the case, on the ground that the umpire did not understand the question at issue.

The Beloved of John Howard Payne.

ATHENS, Ga., May 16.—Miss Mary Harden, a Georgia lady who was buried Sunday, enjoyed the distinction of having been beloved by John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home." Payne met her half a century ago while here a commissioner to sign a treaty with the Cherokees. She rejected his offer of marriage, but never went into society afterward, and he lived the life of a recluse. It is said that the original manuscript of "Home, Sweet Home" is buried with her.

A Drunken Brother's Crime.

DETROIT, Mich., May 16.—James and Charles Peterson, of Clayton township, Genesee county, went to Flushing Saturday and both got drunk. Charles returned home first, and lay in bed with his clothes on when James reached home at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. They began to quarrel, when Charles drew an ax from under the bed and struck James across the throat, killing him instantly. Charles was taken into custody at daylight.

Collier Indorses McGlynn.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Rev. Robert Collier, in his sermon Sunday night, expressed approval of Dr. McGlynn's course, and declared his belief that ministers and priests should preach not only religious truth, but social reform.

Mrs. Johns Must Stay Divorced.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Judge Barrett has denied the application of Mrs. Annie E. Johns to have the absolute divorce which she got from Henry W. Johns in 1882 set aside.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable discovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles at this Great Discovery for Consumption free at Frank Sherer & Co.

TORONTO MAKES HER PROTEST

Against O'Brien's Visit to That City—Resolutions Adopted.

TORONTO, Ont., May 16.—In accordance with a requisition signed by a number of leading citizens, Mayor Howland called a mass-meeting of citizens in Queen's park Saturday afternoon to condemn the intended visit of William O'Brien to this city for the purpose of denouncing Lord Lansdowne's actions as an Irish landlord. Fully 15,000 citizens attended the meeting, which was one of the most enthusiastic and orderly ever held in the city. A platform was erected amid the trees in the park, and on it assembled numbers of the most eminent divines and literary men in the city. Among them were Professor Goldwin Smith, the bishops of Toronto and Algoma, Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Provost Body (of Trinity church), Canon Dommoulin, H. E. Clarke, E. F. Clarke, and L. Hughes (inspector of the city public schools). The resolutions were received amid loud cheers, and when her majesty's name was mentioned every head was uncovered and cheer upon cheer rent the air. When the mayor put each separate resolution to the meeting and asked those in favor to hold up their hands, thousands of hands were held up, while only a few hands were held up to the contrary.

In speaking to the resolution the different speakers denounced Mr. O'Brien's actions as not only an insult to Lord Lansdowne, but as an insult to Canadians and to the British queen. Whenever the editor of United Ireland's name was mentioned loud, angry groans, mingled with hisses, were heard.

The mayor, in concluding the meeting, said that if Mr. O'Brien came to the city he would see that he received a fair hearing as long as his words contained no breach of the law. The citizens had often trusted him to maintain the law, and he would not fail them on this occasion. He was satisfied that the citizens would allow Mr. O'Brien freedom of speech and leave the matter in his hands and he would see that he received British fair play—nothing more and nothing less. This expression was greeted with different cries, "We will," and "we won't." The meeting closed with the immense crowd singing "God Save the Queen," and giving three cheers for the queen and Lord Lansdowne. The resolutions adopted were as follows:

That this meeting reprobates the action of Mr. William O'Brien in visiting this city for the purpose of exciting hostile feeling against his excellency, the governor general, on account of differences between his excellency and his tenants in Ireland, and expresses its entire and unabated confidence in the high character of his excellency the marquis of Lansdowne, and in his fitness to represent her majesty in Canada.

By Professor Goldwin Smith:

That this meeting looks with perfect confidence to the parliament of the United Kingdom for a wise and just settlement of all questions relating to Ireland.

Referring to the visit of Mr. O'Brien, The Globe says: "In what a position would they place the governor general, who want the authorities to act as though he could be injured or brought into public contempt by Mr. O'Brien! We pointed out from the first that the circumstances are such that the charges of the Irish orator must fall flat. It was to save the cause of Ireland from the injury to be worked by the foolish visit of the orator that we counselled him to stay at home. Now that he is here, it is desirable that he be accorded perfect liberty of utterance. Lord Lansdowne, in expressing that opinion, scores an important point and gains a distinct personal title to public good will."

O'Brien Will Apply the Match.

MONTREAL, May 16.—At a meeting of the Irish National league, held Saturday afternoon, addresses were delivered by William O'Brien, Dennis Kilbride, the evicted tenant, and several local speakers. Mr. O'Brien in the course of his speech said that his presence in Toronto would scarcely fail to apply the match to the inflammatory material, but they were not going to be intimidated by any threats from doing what they had a perfect legal right to do. He also expressed belief that when his tour was finished the Canadian people would send Lord Lansdowne home with the stamp of Canadian reprobation upon his brow.

Attempt to Murder a Priest.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.—Intense excitement was created at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception Saturday evening by an attempt to murder Rev. Father Looney, who was engaged in the confessional. Two shots were fired from a pew by Alice Creigh, of this city, a demented woman, aged 45 years. A revolver was used. One cartridge entered the wood-work of the box and the other grazed the left arm of reverend father. The woman was locked up. She alleges that money sent her from Ireland had been kept from her by the clergy.

How They Shear the "Lambs."

NEW YORK, May 16.—At the Pacific railway inquiry Saturday Lawyer Hassler, who was a Wall street broker a few years ago, gave a description of how matters are carried on in Wall street, the method of putting up the price of stocks and bonds; coaxing in the "lambs" when prices are high enough, letting them have all they want, and then relieving them of their holdings when they get too heavy, of course at lower prices than they (the "lambs) paid.

Getting Mexico to Subsidize for Us.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 16.—Mr. Porch, the American consul general, is negotiating with the Mexican government for a steamship company charter. There is little doubt of his success, and it is expected that the concessions asked will be granted. The steamers of the company will run from Rio de Janeiro to New York, touching at all the gulf ports of Mexico. The subsidy allowed by the Mexican government is $6,000 per trip.

Agricultural Fair in Russia.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—The department of state has received information from the vice consul general at St. Petersburg that an agricultural exhibition, with competition in agricultural implements and machinery, will be held at Kharkoff, Russia, between Oct. 2 and Oct 22, 1887. Americans can compete in exhibits of horses, cattle, swine, poultry, bees, and agricultural implements and machinery.

A Profitable Business at the Capital.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—The traffic in the sale of flowers in Washington is growing every year. The leading florist of the town has just completed a very handsome five-story brick and iron building in the center of the city out of the profits of ten years' dealing in La France roses at 75 cents apiece, and Marechal Neil buds at $6 a dozen.

Meeting of Mechanical Engineers.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—The annual convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will meet here on Tuesday, May 31, and will remain in session several days. About 300 delegates are expected to be present, and various matters of interest to the profession will be discussed.

Not a Drop to Drink.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Sunday excise law was again thoroughly enforced Sunday, and it was next to impossible to get a drink of any kind of liquor. There was an exodus of thirsty people to Hoboken, Jersey City and other places where New York blue laws were not in force.

HOPE FOR THE HEATHEN.

A LUTHERAN CLERGYMAN APPROVES THE ANDOVER THEOLOGY,

And Vigorously Attacks the Calvinistic Idea of Salvation—Annihilation a Better Creed Than Damnation for Ignorance—A Personal Illustration—Secession in the South Carolina Episcopal Church.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—Rev. William E. Parson, of the Church of the Reformation (Lutheran), preached a very interesting sermon Sunday on the "Andover Question in the Concrete." Instead of the sweeping question as to the fate of the millions who died without hearing of Christ, he took the case of one man and explained that ten years ago there died in the ancient city of Kioto, Japan, a man who was by nature a royal soul—Mr. Kido, the trusted advisor of the emperor. He was simple in manner, affectionate in disposition, a good man naturally. Those who knew him best called him a pious man, though he believed in no religion. He knew too much to believe in Buddhism, the popular religion of his own country, and not quite enough to accept Christianity intelligently.

"What was his fate?" asked the pastor. "Practically he knew nothing of Christ; he wanted to know more; his desire was all right; he wanted Christianity to come into his empire. The Andover question in the concrete is simply this—what is the destiny of that man? Was it sealed hopelessly at death? Is that man gone to be the companion of thieves, murderers and scoffers? Is he to be judged by some absolute amount of creed knowledge, failing which he passes under a fatal and final condemnation? The thought is monstrous. It is unchristian. It is barbaric. Reason, justice, mercy, affection—every instinct of the soul, the scriptures themselves—all cry out against such a horrible teaching.

"Yet that is the teaching against which Andover protests. When Christ said, 'If I had not come and spoken to them they had not had sin,' he meant that no man can ever come to the full degree of responsibility until he has had the fullest possible opportunity. When Paul said, 'How shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard?' he was apologizing for a state of ignorance, not condemning men for it."

The speaker said we had better believe in annihilation, universalism, purgatory, or almost any doctrine which had some show of mercy in it. He characterized the Andover prosecution as a persecution, and said that from his years of experience in a foreign land and acquaintance with many missionaries the very man to send out as a missionary was the man who carried no such awful message as that there was no hope for those who had had the misfortune to depart this life in advance of the messenger. He affirmed that there was not a verse of Scripture to bear out the traditional teaching, but that many Scriptures contained "the larger hope."

After a full discussion of the question from the standpoint of reason and scripture, Mr. Parson closed by saying. "My friend who died ten years ago without knowing Christ is in the hands of God, who can do no injustice anywhere. And what is true of one holds true of millions. The Andover question is in the minds of intelligent Christians of all churches, and the multitude are answering this with a liberality that grows with the passing years. I thank God that the church to which I belong has no such awful dogma as to the fate of the heathen as would subject her ministers to a trial for heresy for holding that there might be some hope for those who die without having heard of Christ."

Mr. Kuki, the Japanese minister, who was present with his secretary of legation, at the close of the sermon warmly congratulated the pastor, and expressed himself as especially gratified with the references to Mr. Kido, the former privy councillor of the emperor.

AN EPISCOPAL CHURCH "SOUTH."

Those Wealthy Christians Who Won't Go to Heaven with a "Nigger."

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 16.—Intense excitement was felt Saturday in Episcopal circles consequent on Friday's secession of lay delegates from the state Episcopal convention on account of the colored delegate, Pollard. The seceders, who represent fourteen of the wealthiest parishes in the state, are very reticent, but it is intimated that their churches will simply withdraw from the diocese by refusing to be represented in the convention and withholding their dues. This course would seriously affect the finances of the diocese. The convention still has a quorum to proceed with the regular order of business. Bishop Howe has received warm congratulations from churches north for his firm stand on behalf of Delegate Pollard's admission to the convention.

Saturday three more delegate of St. Luke's parish, Charleston, seceded. Resolutions of regret were passed by the convention, requesting the seceders to resume their seats, but after some communications had passed no reconciliation was effected. The convention adjourned to meet in Anderson, S. C., next May.

Why Not Tackle the Company?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 16.—Some time ago the city council passed a resolution calling upon the police to enforce the ordinance requiring street car drivers to call the names of the streets at the crossings, and notices were posted at the street car stables that the ordinance would be enforced beginning Sunday. The drivers met and determined to ignore the order, claiming that the company furnished no conductors and that they had enough to do without watching for the particular crossings. As a result eight drivers were arrested Sunday and will appear before the mayor.

Gotham Shows No Courtesies to Kapiolani.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Queen Kapiolani arrived in this city at 7 o'clock Saturday night. There were no courtesies extended to the queen by the city officials. The party was escorted by the Hawaiian minister to carriages in waiting and driven to the Victoria hotel, where they at once adjourned to the suite of rooms engaged for their reception. The royal party will remain in this city until the 25th, when they will sail for Europe on the steamship Celtic.

Another Civil Service Examination.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—The civil service commission gives notice that a competitive examination will be held at the rooms of the commission at Washington on Thursday, May 19, at 9 a. m., of men having technical knowledge upon the following subjects: Maritime meteorology, navigation, marine surveying, French, and German.

A $2,000,000 Mortgage No Good.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The general term of the supreme court has denied the right of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company to the divisional mortgage on the Bankers' and Merchants' line between New York and Philadelphia. The mortgage was for $2,000,000.

No Bill Against the Printing "Combine."

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., May 16.—The Sangamon county grand jury was in session a few minutes Saturday forenoon, and was then discharged. No bill was found against the parties to the state printing combine.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. THE THIRD WATCH

THE TIME WHEN CRIMINALS DO THEIR WORST.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Exhorts His Hearers to Give Money to the Poor Rather than Tracts—Gamblers the Most Heartless of All Evil Doers.

BROOKLYN, May 15.—At the tabernacle this morning there were the same great throngs of people as usual, overflowing the main audience room into the corridors, and from the corridors into the street. This, the largest church in America, is more and more inadequate to hold the people, as the years go by. The pastor, the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, D.D., took for his text this morning: "Watchman, what of the night?" Isaiah xxi, 2. He said:

When night came down on Babylon, Nineveh, and Jerusalem, they needed careful watching, otherwise the incendiary's torch might have been thrust into the very heart of the metropolitan splendor; or enemies, marching from the hills, might have forced the gates. All night long, on top of the wall and in front of the gates, might be heard the measured step of the watchman on his solitary beat; silence hung in air, save as some passer-by raised the question: "Watchman, what of the night?"

It is to me a deeply suggestive and solemn thing to see a man standing guard by night. It thrilled through me, as at the gate of an arsenal in Charleston, the question once smote me: "Who comes there?" followed by the sharp command: "Advance and give the countersign." Every moral teacher stands on picket, or patrols the wall as watchman. His work is to sound the alarm; and whether it be in the first watch, in the second watch, in the third watch, or in the fourth watch, to be vigilant until the daybreak flings its "morning glories" of blooming cloud across the arching trellis of the sky.

The ancients divided their night into four parts—the first watch, from 6 to 9; the second, from 9 to 12; the third, from 12 to 3; the fourth, from 3 to 6.

I speak now of the city in the third watch, or from 12 to 3 o'clock.

I never weary of looking upon the life and brilliancy of the city in the first watch. That is the hour when the stores are closing. The laboring men, having quitted the scaffolding and the shop, are on their way home. It rejoices me to give them my seat in the city car. They have stood and hammered away all day. Their feet are weary. They are exhausted with the tug of work. They are mostly cheerful. With appetites sharpened on the swift turner's wheel and the carpenter's whetstone, they seek the evening meal. The clerks, too, have broken away from the counter, and with brain weary of the long line of figures, and the whims of those who go a shopping, seek the face of mother, or wife and child. The merchants are unharnessing themselves from their anxieties on their way up the street. The boys that lock up are heaving away at the shutters, shoving the heavy bolts and taking a last look at the fire to see that all is safe. The streets are thronged with young men setting out from the great centers of bargain making.

Let idlers clear the street, and give right of way to the besweated artisans and merchants. They have earned their bread, and are now on their way home to get it.

The lights in full jet hang over 10,000 evening repasts—the parents at either end of the table, the children between. Thank God, "who setteth the solitary in families."

A few hours later and all the places of amusement, good and bad, are in full tide. Lovers of art, catalogue in hand, stroll through the galleries and discuss the pictures. The ballroom is resplendent with the rich apparel of those who, on either side of the white, glistening boards, await the signal from the orchestra. The footlights of the theatre flash up, the bell rings, and the curtain rises, and out from the gorgeous scenery glide the actors, greeted with the vociferation of the expectant multitudes. Concert halls are lifted into enchantment with the warble of one songstress, or swept out on a sea of tumultuous feeling by the blast of brazen instruments. Drawing rooms are filled with all gracefulness of apparel, with all sweetness of sound, with all splendor of manner; mirrors are catching up and multiplying the scene until it seems as if in infinite corridors there were garlanded groups advancing and retreating.

The outdoor air rings with laughter and with the moving to of thousands on the great promenades. The dashing span, adrip with the foam of the long country ride, rushes past as you halt at the curb stone.

Mirth, revelry, beauty, fashion, magnificence mingle in the great metropolitan picture, until the thinking man goes home to think more seriously and the praying man to pray more earnestly.

A beautiful and overwhelming thing is the city in the first and second watches of the night.

But the clock strikes 12, and the third watch has begun.

The thunder of the city has rolled out of the air. The slightest sounds cut the night with such distinctness as to attract your attention. The tinkling of the bell of the street car in the distance and the baying of the dog; the stamp of the horse in the next street; The slamming of a saloon door; the hiccough of the drunkard; the shriek of the steam whistle, five miles away—Oh, how suggestive, my friends, the third watch of the night!

There are honest men passing up and down the street. Here is a city missionary who has been carrying a scuttle of coal to that poor family in that dark place. Here is an undertaker going up the steps of a building from which there comes a bitter cry, which indicates that the destroying angel has smitten the first born. Here is a minister of religion who has been giving the sacrament to a dying Christian. Here is a physician passing along in great haste, the messenger a few steps a head hurrying on to the household.

Nearly all the lights have gone out in the dwellings, for it is the third watch of the night. That light in the window is the light of the watcher, for the medicines must be administered, and the fever must be watched, and the restless tossing off of the coverlid must be resisted, and the ice must be kept on the hot temples, and the perpetual prayer must go up from hearts soon to be broken.

Oh, the third watch of the night! What a stupendous thought—a whole city at rest!

Weary arm preparing for to-morrow's toil; hot brain being cooled off; rigid muscles relaxed; excited nerves soothed; the white hair of the octogenarian in thin drifts across the pillow; fresh fall of flakes on snow already fallen; childhood with its dimpled hands thrown out on the pillow, and with every breath taking in a new store of fun and frolic. Third watch of the night! God's slumberless eye will look. Let one great wave of refreshing slumber roll over the heart of the great town, submerging care, and anxiety, and worriment, and pain.

Let the city sleep. But, my friends, be not deceived. There will be thousands to-night who will not sleep at all. Go up that dark alley and be cautious where you tread lest you fall over the prostrate form of a drunkard lying on his own doorstep. Look about you, lest you feel the garroter's hug. Look through the broken window pane and see what you can see. You say "Nothing." Then listen. What is it? "God help us!" No footlights, but tragedy ghastlier and mightier than Ristori or Edwin Booth ever enacted. No light, no fire, no bread, no hope. Shivering in the cold, they have had no food for twenty-four hours. You say, "Why don't they beg?" They do, but they get nothing. You say: "Why don't they deliver themselves over to the almshouse?" Ah, you would not ask that if you ever heard the bitter cry of a man or a child when told that he must go to the almshouse.

"Oh!" you say, "they are vicious poor, and, therefore, they do not deserve our sympathy." Are they vicious? So much more need they your pity. The Christian poor, God helps them. Through their night there twinkles the round, merry star of hope, and through the broken window pane they see the crystals of heaven; but the vicious poor, they are more to be pitied. Their last light has gone out. You excuse yourself from helping them by saying they are so bad. they brought this trouble on themselves. I reply, where I give ten prayers for the innocent who are suffering I will give twenty prayers for the guilty who are suffering.

The fisherman, when he sees a vessel dashing into the breakers, comes out from his hut and wraps the warmest flannels around those who are most chilled and most bruised and most battered in the wreck; and I want you to know that these vicious poor have had two shipwrecks—shipwreck of the body, shipwreck of the soul—shipwreck for time, shipwreck for eternity. Pity, by all means, the innocent who are suffering, but pity more the guilty.

Pass on through the alley. Open the door. "O," you say, "it is locked." No, it is not locked. It has never been locked. No burglar would be tempted to go in there to steal anything. The door is never locked. Only a broken chair stands against the door. Shove it back. Go in. Strike a match. Now look. Beastliness and rags. See those glaring eyeballs. Be careful now what you say. Do not utter any insult; do not utter any suspicion, if you value your life. What is that red mark on the wall? It is the mark of a murderer's hand!

Look at those eyes rising up out of the darkness and out from the straw in the corner, coming toward you, and as they come near you your light goes out. Strike another match. Ah! this is a babe, not like those beautiful children presented in baptism. This little one never smiled; it never will smile. A flower flung on an awfully barren beach. Oh! heavenly Shepherd, fold that little one in Thy arms. Wrap around you your shawl or your coat tighter, for the cold wind sweeps through.

Strike another match. Ah! is it possible that that young woman's scarred and bruised face ever was looked into by maternal tenderness? Utter no scorn. Utter no harsh word. No ray of hope ever will dawn on that brow. But the light has gone out. Do not strike another light. It would be a mockery to kindle another light in such a place as that. Pass out and pass down the street. Our cities of Brooklyn and New York and all our great cities are full of such homes, and the worst time the third watch of the night.

Do you know it is in this third watch of the night that criminals do their worst work? It is the criminal's watch.

At 8:30 o'clock you will find them in the drinking saloon, but toward 12 they go to their garrets, they get out their tools, then they start on the street. Watching on either side for the police, they go to their work of darkness. This is a burglar, and the false key will soon touch the store lock. This is an incendiary, and before morning there will be a light on the sky and a cry of "Fire! fire!" This is an assassin, and to-morrow morning there will be a dead body in one of the vacant lots. During the daytime these villains in our cities lounge about, some asleep and some awake, but when the third watch of the night arrives, their eye keen, their brain cool, their arm strong, their foot fleet to fly or pursue, they are ready.

Many of these poor creatures were brought up in that way. They were born in a thieves' garret. Their childish toy was a burglar's dark lantern. The first thing they remember was their mother bandaging the brow of their father, struck by the police club. They began by robbing boy's pockets, and now they have come to dig the underground passage to the cellar of the bank and are preparing to blast the gold vault.

Just so long as there are neglected children of the street just so long we will have these desperadoes. Some one, wishing to make a good Christian point and to quote a passage of Scripture, expecting to get a Scriptural passage in answer, said to one of these poor lads, cast out and wretched: "When your father and your mother forsake you, who then will take you up?" And the boy said: "The perlice! the perlice!"

In the third watch of the night gambling does its worst work. What though the hours be slipping away, and though the wife be waiting in the cheerless home? Stir up the fire. Bring on more drinks. Put up more stakes. That commercial house that only a little while ago put out a sign of copartnership, will this winter be wrecked on a gambler's table. There will be many a money till that will spring a leak. A member of congress gambled with a member elect and won $120,000. The old way of getting a living is so slow. The old way of getting a fortune is so stupid. Come, let us toss up and see who shall have it. And so the work goes on, from the wheezing wretches pitching pennies in a rum grocery up to the millionaire gambler in the stock market.

In the third watch of the night, pass down the streets of these cities, and you hear the click of the dice and the sharp, keen stroke of the ball on the billiard table. At these places merchant princes dismount, and legislators, tired of making laws, take a respite in breaking them. All classes of people are robbed by this crime—the importer of foreign silks and the dealer in Chatham street pocket handkerchiefs. The clerks of the store take a hand after the shutters are put up, and the officers of the court while away their time while the jury is out.

In Baden-Baden, when that city was the greatest of all gambling places on earth, it was no unusual thing the next morning, in the woods around about the city, to find the suspended bodies of suicides. Whatever be the splendor of surroundings, there is no excuse for this crime. The thunders of eternal destruction roll in the deep rumble of that gambling tenpin alley, and as men come out to join the long procession of sin, all the drums of death beat the dead march of a thousand souls.

In one year, in the city of New York, there were $7,000,000 sacrificed at the gaming table. Perhaps some of your friends have been smitten of this sin. Perhaps some of you have been smitten by it.

Perhaps there may be a stranger in the house this morning come from some of the hotels. Look out for those agents of iniquity who tarry around about the hotels and ask you: "Would you like to see the city?" "Yes." "Have you ever been in that splendid building up town?" "No." Then the villain will undertake to show you what he calls the "lions" and the "elephants," and after a young man, through morbid curiosity or through badness of soul, has seen the "lions" and the "elephants," he will be on enchanted ground. Look out for these men who move around the hotels with sleek hats—always sleek hats—and patronizing air, and unaccountable interest about your welfare and entertainment. You are a fool if you cannot see through it. They want your money.

In Chestnut street, Philadelphia, while I was living in that city, an incident occurred which was familiar to us there. In Chestnut street a young man went into a gambling saloon, lost all his property, then blew his brains out, and before the blood was washed from the floor by the maid the comrades were shuffling cards again. You see there is more mercy in the highwayman for the belated traveler on whose body he heaps the stones, there is more mercy in the frost for the flower that it kills, there is more mercy in the hurricane that shivers the steamer on the Long Island coast, than there is mercy in the heart of a gambler for his victim.

In the third watch of the night, also, drunkenness does its worst. The drinking will be respectable at 8 o'clock in the evening, a little flushed at 9, talkative and garrulous at 10, at 11 blasphemous, at 12 the hat falls off, at 1 the man falls to the floor asking for more drink. Strewn through the drinking saloons of the city, fathers, brothers, husbands, sons as good as you are by nature, perhaps better.

In the high circles of society it is hushed up. A merchant prince, if he gets noisy and uncontrollable, is taken by his fellow revelers, who try to get him to bed, or take him home, where he falls flat in the entry. Do not wake up the children. They have had disgrace enough. Do not let them know it. Hush it up. But sometimes it cannot be hushed up, when the rum touches the brain and the man becomes thoroughly frenzied. Such a one came home, having been absent for some time, and during his absence his wife had died, and she lay in the next room prepared for the obsequies, and he went in and dragged her by the locks, and shook her out of her shroud, and pitched her out of the window.

Oh, when rum touches the brain you cannot hush it up. My friends, you see all around about you the need that something radical be done. You do not see the worst. In the midnight meetings at London a great multitude has been saved. We want a few hundred Christian men and women to come down from the highest circles of society to toil amid these wandering and destitute ones and kindle up a light in the dark alley, even the gladness of heaven.

Do not go wrapped in your fine furs and from your well filled tables with the idea that pious talk is going to stop the gnawing of an empty stomach or to warm stockingless feet. Take bread, take raiment, take medicine as well as take prayer. There is a great deal of common sense in what the poor woman said to the city missionary when he was telling her how she ought to love God and serve Him. "Oh," she said, "if you were as poor and cold as I am, and as hungry, you could think of nothing else."

A great deal of what is called Christian work goes for nothing, for the simple reason it is not practical; as after the battle of Antietam a man got out of an ambulance with a bag of tracts, and he went distributing the tracts, and George Stuart, one of the best Christian men in this country, said to him: "What are you distributing tracts for now? There are 3,000 men bleeding to death. Bind up their wounds and then distribute the tracts."

We want more common sense in Christian work, taking the bread of this life in one hand and the bread of the next life in the other hand. No such inapt work as that done by the Christian man who, during the last war, went into a hospital with tracts, and, coming to the bed of a man whose legs had been amputated, gave him a tract on the sin of dancing. I rejoice before God that never are sympathetic words uttered, never a prayer offered, never a Christian almsgiving indulged in but it is blessed.

There is a place in Switzerland, I have been told, where the utterance of one word will bring back a score of echoes; and I have to tell you this morning that a sympathetic word, a kind word, a generous word, a helpful word uttered in the dark places of the town will bring back 10,000 echoes from all the thrones of heaven.

Are there in this assemblage this morning those who know by experience the tragedies in the third watch of the night? I am not here to thrust you back with one hard word. Take the bandage from your bruised soul and put on it the soothing salve of Christ's gospel and of God's compassion. Many have come. I see others coming to God this morning, tired of the sinful life. Cry up the news to heaven. Set all the bells ringing. Spread the banquet under the arches. Let the crowned heads come down and sit at the jubilee. I tell you there is more delight in heaven over one man that gets reformed by the grace of God than over ninety and nine that never got off the track.

I could give you the history, in a minute, of one of the best friends I ever had. Outside of my own family, I never had a better friend. He welcomed me to my home at the west. He was of splendid personal appearance, but he had an ardor of soul and a warmth of affection that made me love him like a brother. I saw men coming out of the saloons and gambling hells, and they surrounded my friend, and they took him at the weak point, his social nature; and I saw him going down, and I had a fair talk with him—for I never yet saw a man you could not talk with on the subject of his habits, if you talked with him in the right way. I said to him: "Why don't you give up your bad habits and become a Christian?" I remember now just how he looked, leaning over his counter, as he replied: "I wish I could. Oh, sir, I should like to be a Christian, but I have gone so far astray I can't get back."

So the time went on. After awhile the day of sickness came. I was summoned to his sick bed. I hastened. It took me but a very few moments to get there. I was surprised as I went in. I saw him in his ordinary dress, fully dressed, lying on top of the bed. I gave him my hand, and he seized it convulsively, and said: "Oh, how glad I am to see you! Sit down there." I sat down and he said: "Mr. Talmage, just where you sit now my mother sat last night. She has been dead twenty years. Now I don't want you to think I am out of my mind, or that I am superstitious; but, sir, she sat there last night just as certainly as you sit there now—the same cap and apron and spectacles. It was my old mother—she sat there." Then he turned to his wife, and said: "I wish you would take these strings off the bed; somebody is wrapping strings around me all the time; I wish you would stop that annoyance." She said: "There is nothing here." Then I saw it was delirium.

He said: "Just where you sit now my mother sat, and she said: 'Roswell, I wish you would do better—I wish you would do better.' I said: 'Mother, I wish I could do better; I try to do better, but I can't. Mother, you used to help me; why can't you help me now?' And, sir, I got out of bed, for it was a reality, and I went to her, and threw my arms around her neck, and I said: 'Mother, I will do better, but you help; I can't do this alone.'" I knelt down and prayed. That night his soul went to the Lord that made it.

Arrangements were made for the obsequies. The question was raised whether they should bring him to the church. Somebody said: "You cannot bring such a dissolute man as that into the church." I said: "You will bring him in church; he stood by me when he was alive, and I will stand by him when he is dead. Bring him." As I stood in the pulpit and saw them carrying the body up the aisle, I felt as if I could weep tears of blood.

On one side the pulpit sat his little child of 8 years, a sweet, beautiful little girl, that I had seen him hug convulsively in his better moments. He put on her all jewels, all diamonds, and gave her all pictures and toys, and then he would go away, as if hounded by an evil spirit, to his cups and the house of shame—a fool to the correction of the stocks. She looked up wonderingly. She knew not what it all meant. She was not old enough to understand the sorrow of an orphan child.

On the other side the pulpit sat the men who had ruined him; they were the men who had poured the wormwood into the orphan's cup; they were the men who had bound him hand and foot. I knew them. How did they seem to feel? Did they weep? No. Did they say: "What a pity that so generous a man should be destroyed." No. Did they sigh repentingly over what they had done? No; they sat there, looking as vultures look at the carcass of a lamb whose heart they have ripped out. So they sat and looked at the coffin lid, and I told them the judgment of God upon those who had destroyed their fellows. Did they reform? I was told they were in the places of iniquity that night after my friend was laid in Oakwood cemetery, and they blasphemed and they drank. Oh! how merciless men are, especially after they have destroyed you. Do not look to men for comfort or help. Look to God.

But there is a man who will not reform. He says: "I won't reform." Well, then, how many acts are there in a tragedy? I believe five.

Act the first of the tragedy: A young man starting off from home; parents and sisters weeping to have him go. Wagon rising over the hill. Farewell kiss flung back. Ring the bell and let the curtain fall.

Act the second: The marriage altar. Full organ. Bright lights. Long white veil trailing through the aisle. Prayer and congratulation, and exclamation of "How well she looks!"

Act the third: A woman waiting for staggering steps. Old garments stuck into the broken window-pane. Marks of hardship on the face. The biting of the nails of bloodless fingers. Neglect, and cruelty, and despair. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act the fourth: Three graves in a dark place—grave of the child that died for lack of medicine, grave of the wife that died of a broken heart, grave of the man that died of dissipation. Oh! what a blasted heath with three graves! Plenty of weeds, but no flowers. Ring the bell and let the curtain drop.

Act the fifth: A destroyed soul's eternity. No light. No music. No hope. Anguish coiling the serpents around the heart. Blackness of darkness forever. But I cannot look any longer. Woe! woe! I close my eyes to this last act of the tragedy. Quick! Quick! Ring the bell and let the curtain drop. "Rejoice, O, young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart rejoice in the days of thy youth; but know thou that for all these things God will bring you into judgment." "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is death."

Seemingly Eradicated.

With repeated and powerful doses of quinine, chills and fever, in some one of its various forms, springs into active existence again, often without the slightest apparent provocation. To extinguish the smoldering embers of this obstinate and recondite malady no less than to subdue it when it rages fiercely in the system, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is all sufficient. When every resource of the pharmacopoeia has been exhausted against it in vain, the Bitters conquer it—will remove every lingering vestige of it. Nay, more, the Bitters will protect those brought within the influence of the atmospheric poison that begets malarial disease, from its attacks. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are among the complaints to be apprehended from the use of miasma-tinted water. These are both cured and prevented by the Bitters. Rheumatism, constipation and renal complaints, yield to its action.

BRIEFLETS.

—Judge Bennett will not reach the criminal calendar before Wednesday.

—Wednesday, June 1st, is the date fixed for the county supervisors' meeting.

—Mr. B. Spence, of the first ward, lost a valuable Gordon Setter last night by poisoning.

—Mr. George Woodruff, of the first ward, is happy, because of a boy baby that has just arrived.

—Superintendent Atwood intends to put up a covered seat at the cemetery for those awaiting the street cars.

—A patent medicine band headed for Monroe was in town over Sunday but left without giving a performance.

—Marshal Hogan was out last evening looking for a couple of "dudes" who were making a race track of the streets.

—More rapid driving was seen on the streets yesterday than for some time past. Livery horses suffered in consequence.

That saloon doors begin to swing open on Sunday and that Marshal Hogan expects before long to have a hand in closing them.

—While hunting gophers a son of Thomas Austin was accidentally shot through the foot. The injury was painful but not serious.

—A most welcome rain storm visited this section of country on Saturday afternoon and evening, doing a vast amount of good to growing crops.

—Mrs. J. A. Denniston is entertaining the east side whist club this afternoon. The club chartered a street car to make the trip through the city to Madison street.

—Two young men that tried to get their money's worth out of a livery horse yesterday by driving on the dead run were stopped by Marshal Hogan. The horse belonged to N. Fredericks.

—Baggage-master Noyes, at the St. Paul depot, helped transfer some Italian emigrant baggage the other day, and now whenever he gets in a crowd they begin to talk about cholera and limberger cheese.

—Miss Maude Williams has been elected class historian of the high school class of '87, and Miss Jennie Geddes class prophet. The valedictory will be delivered by Miss Fannie Ryckman or Mr. John H. Groesbeck.

—The Gazette Bindery is turning out some very fine work and under the efficient management of Mr. W. E. Clinton is rapidly establishing a reputation. Bring in your magazines and have them put in order for the library.

—Numbering the coupon tickets for the Choral Union was the first work done by the Gazette's recently purchased numbering press. Heretofore this class of printing could only be done in Chicago and Milwaukee.

—The Rev. Mr. Peterson, of Elkhorn, occupied the pulpit at Court Street church yesterday, and delivered two very excellent sermons. The Rev. Mr. Peake, pastor of the church, is convalescent and hopes to be able to resume active work at an early day.

—Several young men around town have received delicately scented notes in feminine hand-writing, pointing out their faults and advising reformation. The boys are losing a great deal of sleep in trying to find out who it is that knows so much about their pet secrets.

—Many complaints are already being made about boys that go in swimming inside the city limits without wearing proper garments. Being a violation of the ordinance such swimming may flea the offenders into Sheriff Ward's back door.

—Plans are being made for changing the central school into a three story building. This could be done without raising the roof and would furnish two rooms twelve feet high twenty-two feet wide and fifty feet long, besides a large hall. This will go far to relieve the overcrowding of the schools and will cost comparatively little.

—Tickets for the oratorio of Esther are now on sale at Prentice & Evenson's drugstore. This effort of the Choral Union should receive a liberal patronage from the people of Janesville, as every cent of the net receipts of this entertainment will go into the treasury, to be expended for the benefit of the society.

—Mrs. Ellen Kirby, wife of John Kirby, died at her home in the fifth ward last night, aged thirty-six years. She left six children. The sickness that finally conquered her was of considerable duration, first making its appearance eight weeks ago. Funeral services will be held to-morrow morning at nine o'clock from St. Patrick's church.

—Wesley Wood, of Dakota, figured yesterday as "a voice from the tombs". He isn't so very frightful when carefully examined, but when he sat down inside the Oak Hill cemetery vault and talked in a deep funeral tone of voice people that passed began to think of "spooks." Wesley now thinks of going on the stage as the ghost in Hamlet.

—The costumes for the Esther oratorio have arrived, and are a fine lot, many very elegant. The Union will rehearse at the opera house this and to-morrow evening. The Union is determined to present the oratorio in first class manner. All who take part are requested to be on hand for rehearsal at eight o'clock. The boys taking part in the chorus will be on hand at seven o'clock.

—The Rectory Society of Christ church will meet to-morrow afternoon and evening with Mrs. W. T. Vankirk, Milton avenue. At six o'clock a fifty cent supper will be served for ten cents, all for the benefit of the society. All friends of the church and society are invited to attend. We would respectfully suggest that the arrangements for the supper be changed—make it a ten cent supper for fifty cents; the society in that event would be ahead.

—Mr. J. A. Zimmerman, the new restaurant man, is now ready for business at No. 10 West Milwaukee street. The room has been thoroughly renovated and put in repair making one of the most attractive restaurants in the city. Meals and lunches served at all hours at reasonable prices. Mr. Zimmerman has had an extensive experience in the business and is well qualified to meet the demands of the public. Call and make his acquaintance.

—How is it, gentlemen? Shall we celebrate the coming Fourth of July or shall we sit on our haunches and let other and poorer towns get away with our persimmons? If anything is to be done, it should be done at once. A committee should be making all arrangements even now. Many towns in the state are now making arrangements for their grand annual patriotic show, and engaging their orators. Janesville should be up and doing if a celebration is to be held.

—"It looks doubtful," said Postmaster Richardson this morning, "whether we have postal delivery by July 1st or not. There is hardly time to number the streets properly, even if work was commenced at once, and if we aren't ready pretty soon, some other town will get our appropriation, and our turn won't come again for a long time. What the council should do would be to give some lively fellow with a paint brush authority to number the houses, and collect twenty-five cents from each owner."

—"Fifteen Thousand For One. Two Janesville Men Get a Capital Prize in the Louisiana Lottery." This heading in Saturday's Milwaukee Journal preceded a dispatch from Janesville telling how Frank Webster and O. N. Vankirk, two prominent business men, had won fifteen thousand dollars at New Orleans. It was a very interesting little story and the genial and urbane correspondent of the Journal probably realizes by this time that even the possession of a hirsute appendage through which the wind loves to whistle does not insure a person against being "sold."

—The two old hose carts, formerly in use in our fire department, have been sold to the city of Darlington, and were taken to the depot this forenoon by Chief Engineer Blunk to be sent forward this evening. The old carts have done good service in Janesville and will long be remembered by the old members of the department. The purchase of the four-wheeled carriages to be drawn by horses forever precludes the use of hand carts in this city, and they could only be kept to rust and decay. The bells had an old time ring as they passed through the streets this morning enroute to the depot. We understand the carts were sold for $80.

—On Saturday afternoon Mayor Winans received a letter from Messrs. Turner, Clarke & Rawson, of Boston, acknowledging receipt of the action of the mayor and common council in awarding the contract to build and operate our water works to them. The letter also informed the mayor that Mr. B. R. Clarke, of the firm, would be in the city this week, with the company's civil engineer, to prepare for the putting in of the works. Mr. Geo. A. Ellis, of Springfield, Mass., and Mr. H. F. Dunham, of Cleveland, Ohio, engineers of experience in building water works, are in the employ of Messrs. Turner, Clarke and Rawson, both gentlemen visited this city last February in the interest of their firm. Mr. Ellis, we believe, is the engineer in charge of the Racine plant, which is owned by this company.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. E. F. Bliss, of Cincinnati, is in the city, the guest of his mother, Mrs. S. F. Bliss, of Jackman street.

—G. A. Bowerman, who was manager of the telephone exchange for some time, but who is now a knight of the grip, spent Sunday in the city.

—D. W. Watt came up from Chicago yesterday. His stay was short, as the Forepaugh show opened this afternoon and "Dave" had to be on the grounds.

—Professor H. D. Maxon, of the state normal school at Whitewater, was in the city over Sunday. He was accompanied by his wife and was a guest of Professor A. H. Keyes.

—Mrs. W. E. Clinton arrived in the city Saturday night from her old home at Joliet. Mr. Clinton has charge of the Gazette Bindery, and for the past month has been a guest of the Park house. The family will occupy a house on Cornelia street, second ward.

—Dr. O. F. Presbey and wife are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson, of the first ward. They are on their way east from a trip through California and New Mexico. Dr. Presbey is well known as one of the proprietors of the successful Washington journal "Public Opinion."

COMING EVENTS.

—Regular meeting of the common council this evening.

—Crystal Temple of Honor No. 32 assemble in regular weekly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Judd block, North Main street.

—All Sons of Veterans will meet at Post hall to-night. W. H. Sargent Post has very generously offered the use of the hall free from rent for a year, a favor that the members of the camp appreciate highly. The Grand Army have worked earnestly to give the new organization a start and nothing that they attempt is ever done by halves.

THE NEW BRIDGE.

What it Cost and Who Subscribed and Paid for the Same.

The Promised Report of the Committee Superintending Its Construction.

The bridge at the foot of North Fourth street, which was constructed by private subscription, and afterwards turned over to the city and accepted as one of the bridges of the city, was thrown open to the public last fall, but the committee not having settled all bills for construction, were unable to make a complete report of cost. The bills having now all been paid, and the subscriptions collected, the committee make the following report:

To the citizens of Janesville who so liberally contributed in the construction of the North Fourth street bridge:

The committee having in charge the construction of the North Fourth street bridge, respectfully report that the bridge is now free from debt and is the property of the city, and is now one of the most accommodating structures in the city, and I trust it is appreciated by all the people, as a most accommodating addition to our bridge system. The bridge is 450 feet in length, requiring the use of one hundred oak and cedar piles as a foundation. It is well and substantially built throughout, and I do not doubt that had the bridge been built by contract with the city it would have cost at least $3,000.

The statement given below of the receipts and expenditures, is not wholly an itemized account, but any one desiring can see itemized bills by calling at the office of Thoroughgood & Co. There should have been $75 more on our subscription list—this amount was subscribed by parties who did not pay—some paying only a part, while others did not pay any of the amounts they subscribed. I think no one will be more pleased to have this off their minds than the committee.

The piling above the railroad bridge, placed there some years ago for the purpose of stopping floating ice, is now nearly all gone, and what is left is of very little use. I intend in the near future to ask the common council to place a row of piles on the north side of the new bridge, as ice breakers. This is the manner adopted to protect all or nearly all the bridges above this city. Had the piling above the railway bridge remained intact, this step would not be necessary now. The placing of these piles can be accomplished without over-reaching the sum allowed by the legislature to be expended on the bridge.

Having fulfilled the trust confided to the committee, we herewith submit the receipts and expenditures.

Respectfully,
JOHN THOROUGHGOOD,
For the committee.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success but many if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

The Poker Player's Soliloquy.

The following is just now going the rounds of the press, originating, we believe, with the Cincinnati Telegram:

To bet or not to bet? that is the question;
Whether it is better on the draw to lay two pair
And lose the per cent I see before me,
Or to raise the bet with a goodly sum
And, by bluffing, steal the pot?

To bet, to bluff no more, and by standing pat to win the pot,
Against three jacks the dealer dealt himself
From the bottom; 'tis a consummation
Devoutly to be wished. To bet, to bluff—
To bluff! perchance be caught; ay! there's the rub,
For if I do it, he's sure to go one better;
And do not catch, may call on three of a kind.
So let me pause; there's the respect
That always makes pat hands a source of doubt.

For who would lay two pair, a four card flush'
Or e'en see high against a timid man's
Two card draw, three Johns in hand, did he
But know that standing pat would win the pot
With a gentle raise? Who would raise his hand
To fume and sweat when his opponent bluffs,
But that the dread of something better,
An unexpected flush, against whose color
No two pair called was ever known to win,
Makes him rather wish to hold the dust he has
Than run against a hand he knows not of.

Thus, power does make cowards of us all,
For there the virtue of a modest full
Rises far above three wanton bullets,
And four laughing twos beat any full
That ever dared to fill. But to pass a bluff
And see a four-card flush cast on the board,
Doth stir the wrath of any pair of kings,
In whose proud faith we next time call three trays,
And lose the cause of action.

WHAT JENKINS SAYS.

That bills for spring suits are getting ripe.

That the new election law is causing much talk.

That tramps rejoice because wood piles are out of season.

That a sensation in legal circles is promised soon.

That he who wears his cranial apex decollette begins to think of fly time.

That a good many people's summer vacation this year will be spent at home.

That there is talk of plowing up Milwaukee street for the benefit of teamsters.

That Judge Bennett will have large audiences in the circuit court this week.

That the towns around begin to smell of gun powder and patriotism already.

That a great many persons not devoutly inclined, attend church Sunday evenings.

That Frank Webster and O. N. Vankirk have heard enough about lotteries lately to fill a book.

That complaints are still being made about the encroachments of picnicing parties at the cemetery.

Those who believe that nature will work off a cough or cold should understand that this is done at the expense of the constitution. Each time this weakens the system, and we all know that the termination of this dangerous practice is a consumptive's grave. Don't take the chances, when a fifty cent bottle of Dr. Bigelow's Cough Cure will safely and promptly cure any recent cough, cold or throat or lung trouble. Buy the dollar bottle for chronic cases or family use. & Evenson, opposite postoffice.

SOMETHING NEW.

Outsiders frequently wonder where the railroads obtain proper return for some of the ingenious but costly methods adopted in advertising their lines. One of the latest to attract our attention is a nicely bound 64-page book entitled "What to Do," containing description and the correct rules of a large number of games suitable for parlor or lawn, which has been issued by the passenger department of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway Company, and will, we understand, be forwarded postpaid, upon receipt of 8 cents by C. H. Warren, general passenger agent at St. Paul. It is a book that would ornament almost any table and interest both old and young.

Mrs. H. G. Porter, of Jacksonville, Vt., says, April 2, 1885: "Dr. Seth Arnold's Cough Killer has been used in my family for a number of years, and we find it excellent for a cold." For sale by all druggists. Price 25c. and $1.00 per bottle.

Another Big Gas Strike in Indiana.

WABASH, Ind., May 16.—The most powerful natural gas well in Indiana was drilled into Sunday at La Fontaine, near this city. At a depth of 930 feet gas was struck in fair quantities. Sunday afternoon the drill was again lowered and in fifteen minutes a column of pulverized Trenton rock, water and sand shot 190 feet in the air, indicating an enormous pressure. The drill could be worked no longer and was withdrawn. Immense crowds flocked to see the wonder.

Better Hang the Survivors.

LACROSSE, Wis., May 16.—Four young people attending a German pic-nic went out in a rowboat Sunday afternoon opposite the city. The men, half drunk, sought to frighten Miss Kate Litske, the only lady in the boat, by rocking. The boat capsized, and Miss Litske and John Beyer were drowned. The other two were saved.

A Big Surplus of Coal.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—An order has been issued to suspend the mining of coal in the anthracite region in order to relieve the surplus at tide-water shipping points. The order will take effect on the 22d instant. According to late inventories the surplus at the points referred to amounts to nearly 1,000,000 tons.

The Current Dastard.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 16.—Fred Kull shot his sweetheart, Julia Miller, while visiting her Sunday evening, the ball, from a small pistol, taking effect in the girl's forehead. Kull was jealous and had been drinking. He was arrested. Miss Miller will recover.

Still Boycotting the Cunarders.

DUBLIN, May 16.—The Mitchelstown branch of the league have enjoined the people to boycott the Cunard line of steamers on account of Mr. O'Brien's treatment by the captain of the Umbria. The advice has already been followed by the people of that district.

A BIG DAY IN LONDON.

The Queen Shows Herself in a Parade Eight Miles Long.

LONDON, May 16.—London was ablaze with excitement Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the visit of the queen for the purpose of opening the people's palace at Mile End. The route selected for the royal progress extended from Paddington station in the western portion of London to Mile End at the extreme eastern limit, a distance of about eight miles. After leaving the station the line of parade deflected southeast a short distance to the marble arch at Hyde park, and thence it lay in an almost straight line to its termination, and was through the longest stretch of busy and crowded thoroughfares existing anywhere in the world, perhaps. The buildings along the entire way were gayly decorated with banners, wreaths, colored trophies, and flags, the Irish colors and the stars and stripes being conspicuous in many places Whitechapel road presented in perspective from almost any point a long vista of triumphal arches. The thoroughfares were thronged with an enormous crowd and the whole route lined with troops—regular and volunteer—selected for the brilliancy of their uniforms, and 10,000 policemen.

The queen was escorted through the city by the lord mayor in his robes of office, and upon reaching the People's palace opened it with a short ceremony, after which her majesty was conducted to the Mansion house where she partook of luncheon. It was the first time the queen had ever been in the lord mayor's official residence, and the first time for many years that she had appeared in public on such an occasion or for so long a time.

After the queen, the prince and princess of Wales and other members of the royal household had partaken of luncheon at the Mansion house Saturday afternoon and departed, two gold teaspoons belonging to the Antique and valuable service used on such occasions were found to be missing. It was at first decided to hush the matter up, but the police authorities were finally notified of the loss.

A SPECIMEN OF TEXAS JUSTICE.

Two Negroes Shot to Pieces by a Mob, and the Cause.

WILLIS, Tex. May 16.—Granville Powell, a young white man, was assisting some ladies to the passenger train at the station here Saturday night and got into an altercation with a negro over the latter's refusal to move aside in a narrow passageway. The negro drew a revolver and fired, mortally wounding Powell. The negro, in company with two companions, a man and a woman was placed in custody.

A mob of armed men surrounded the jail where the negro and his companions were confined at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and overpowered the guard. They then broke down the door of the calaboose and let the woman out. The negro, Andrew McGeehe, who did the shooting, and J. B. Walker, his companion, were found chained together and lying on the floor of the jail, and in this position they were fired upon by the lynchers, who then disappeared. McGeehe was found dead with eight bullets in his body. Walker was wounded in three places but may live. A coroner's jury rendered a verdict that McGeehe came to his death at the hands of persons unknown.

Walker's story of the dispute between McGeehe and Powell would indicate that the latter carried a trifling matter to an unnecessary extent, and provoked the shooting. When Powell had seated the ladies in the car, he walked to where McGeehe was standing in the aisle and began stabbing him with a knife. McGeehe ran to the platforms followed by and, turning on the latter, shot at him. McGeehee's clothing, Walker says, shows the mark of Powell's knife. Powell is still alive, but it is believed he can not recover.

AN ILL-ASSORTED MARRIAGE.

Ex-Governor Sprague's Son Wants a Divorce from His Step-Mother's Sister.

NEW YORK, May 16.—A special from Newport, R. I., says: It is stated upon excellent authority that Willie Sprague, son of ex-Governor William Sprague and grandson of the late Chief Justice Chase, is to sue for divorce. It will be remembered that he married his step-mother's sister. The ground upon which the petition will be based is that Willie, who was a mere boy at the time of the marriage, was not a free agent. Papers will be filed at the next term of the supreme court.

Willie remained with his father when Mrs. Kate Chase-Sprague left Canonchet, and since his mother's divorce he has invariably taken sides with his father. Every one knows Willie Sprague, who led the van at the great battle of Canonchet in the days of the Chaffee-Sprague war. His encounter with Bob Thompson down at Narragansett pier made him popular, and ever since he has been looked on as a remarkably promising young fellow.

Justice Woods' Successor.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—A prominent southerner, who is on the most intimate terms with the president, is authority for the statement that Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, is by far the most probable successor to Associate Justice Woods, of the supreme court. According to the authority the president would prefer to make the appointment from Louisiana, rather than from any other of the half dozen states within the circuit, and Senator Gibson in every respect meets the requirements for the position, which is represented to be the ambition of his life.

Novel Way of Evading Duty.

WASHINGTON CITY, May 16.—A curious evasion of the payment of duty on wool was reported to the treasury department the other day. A flock of sheep was driven across the Mexican border and duty assessed upon them as live stock. They were then sheared and the wool placed on the market without having been subjected to duty. This arrangement resulted in a saving of about 50 per cent. in the matter of duty alone.

Attachment in a Suit for $1,000,000.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 16.—An attachment in a suit for $1,000,000, brought by Clinton J. Farrell, receiver of the Bankers' and Merchants' Telegraph company, was served upon the local officers of the Western Union company Friday. The suit is for damages caused by the cutting of the Bankers' and Merchants wires, in July 1885, by agents of the Western Union.
